Contents of Volume 34

Number 1

1 The Use of ^{1}H Nuclear Magnetic Resonance Spectroscopy and Gas Liquid Chromatography/Mass Spectrometry to Determine the Effects of Fungal Biodeterioration on Defined Synthetic Metal-working Fluids
E. L. PRINCE, R. W. MCCABE & L. H. G. MORTON (UK)

21 Prospects for Fungal Bioremediation of TNT Munition Waste
J. W. BENNETT (USA)

35 An Atomic Force Microscopy Study of the Biodeterioration of Stainless Steel in the Presence of Bacterial Biofilms
A. STEELE, D. T. GODDARD & I. B. BEECH (UK)

47 Colonization by Lichens of Granite Dolmens in Galicia (NW Spain)
B. PRIETO, T. RIVAS, B. SILVA, R. CARBALLAL & M. E. LÓPEZ DE SILANES (Spain)

61 Reburial of Waterlogged Wood, the Problems and Potential of this Conservation Technique
C. CAPLE (UK)

73 Use of Lactobacilli to Reduce the Adhesion of Staphylococcus aureus to Catheters
G. REID & C. TIESZER (Canada)

85 Abstracts of the Papers Presented at the Fall 1994 Meeting of the Biodeterioration Society

91 Announcement

Number 2

93 Obituary—H. O. W. Eggins

Review

95 Biodeterioration/Biodegradation of Polymeric Medical Devices In Situ
D. F. WILLIAMS & S. P. ZHONG (UK)

131 Corrosion Stability of Nickel in Ni-alloys in Synthetic Sweat
S. COLIN, H. JOLIBOIS, A. CHAMBAUDET & M. TIREFORD (France)

143 Biological Activities of Actinomycetes and Fungi Isolated from the Indoor Air of Problem Houses
K. RÄTY, O. RAATIKAINEN, J. HOLMALAHTI, A. VON WRIGHT, S. JOKI, A. PITKÄNEN, V. SAANO, A. HYVÄRINEN, A. NEVALAINEN (Finland) & I. BUTI (Hungary)

155 Detection of Specific Bacteria on Stone using an Enzyme-linked Immunosorbent Assay
S. TAYLER & E. MAY (UK)

169 Excretion of Organic Acids by Fungal Strains Isolated from Decayed Sandstone
G. GÓMEZ-ALARCÓN, M. L. MUÑOZ & M. FLORES (Spain)

181 Towards a Standardized Screening Method for Determining the Bioresistance of, and Evaluating, Biocides in Aqueous Metalworking Fluids
J. GILLATT & C. TOWNSLEY (UK)

Number 3/4

Special Issue: Marine Biofouling and Corrosion

201 Preface

203 Biofilms in Biodeterioration—a Review
L. H. G. MORTON & S. B. SURMAN (UK)

223 Study of Microbial Biofilms Using Light Microscope Techniques
J. T. WALKER & C. W. KEEVIL (UK)

237 Biofilms and Fluidized Bed Fermentation
M. J. DEMPSEY (UK)

245 Biofilms and Corrosion Interactions on Stainless Steel in Seawater
H. A. VIDELA (Argentina)

259 Microbial Contributions to the Marine Corrosion of Steel Piling
C. W. S. CHEUNG, F. C. WALSH, S. A. CAMPBELL, W. T. CHAO & I. B. BEECH (UK)

275 Cathodic Protection and Microbially Induced Corrosion
J. G. GUEZENNEC (France)

289 Study of Parameters Implicated in the Biodeterioration of Mild Steel in the Presence of Different Species of Sulphate-reducing Bacteria
I. B. BEECH, C. W. S. CHEUNG, C. S. P. CHAN, M. A. HILL (UK), R. FRANCO & A.-R. LINO (Portugal)

305 Survival Mechanisms of Hydrogen Sulphide-producing Bacteria Isolated from Extreme Environments and their Role in Corrosion
H. M. LAPPIN-SCOTT, C. J. BASS, K. McALPINE & P. F. SANDERS (UK)

321 Copper–Nickel Sheathing and its Use for Ship Hulls and Offshore Structures
C. A. POWELL (UK)

333 The Influence of Low Surface Energy Materials on Bioadhesion—a Review
M. E. CALLOW & R. L. FLETCHER (UK)

349 Resistance to Marine Fouling of Elastomeric Coatings of Some Poly(dimethylsiloxanes) and Poly(dimethyldiphenylsiloxanes)
D. P. EDWARDS, T. G. NEVELL, B. A. PLUNKETT & B. C. OCHILTREE (UK)

361 The Screening of Sponge Extracts for Antifouling Activity using a Bioassay with Laboratory-reared Cyprid Larvae of the Barnacle Balanus amphitrite
P. R. WILLEMSEN (The Netherlands)

375 Regulatory Controls on Biocides in the United Kingdom and Restrictions on the Use of Triorganotin-containing Antifouling Products
G. M. BELL & J. CHADWICK (UK)

387 The Changing Regulatory Environment: EPA Registration of a New Marine Antifoulant Active Ingredient
W. W. BINGAMAN & G. L. WILLINGHAM (USA)

401 Risk–Benefit Analysis and Case Study on Tributyl Tin
L. MOORE & M. POSTLE (UK)
